

If Post Offices close & Saturday mail delivery ends...

Who will suffer?

- ▽ People who need medicine delivered
- ▽ People without computers or internet
- ▽ People who need money orders
- ▽ People who ship packages to relatives in need
- ▽ People who need a P.O. box due to lack of safe or permanent housing
- ▽ People who will have difficulty traveling to the remaining offices and standing in long lines
- ▽ Businesses where postal workers spend their pay
- ▽ Whole communities, when formerly well-paid unionized workers can no longer afford their mortgages (Have you seen Detroit since the auto plants closed?)
- ▽ Children and grandchildren who will lose a source of funding for college
- ▽ More than 200,000 postal workers faced with losing their jobs!

Harlem residents protest threatened post office closings, September 27.

From the inner cities to country roads, the overall prosperity and health of populations already struggling are at risk if congress cuts the U.S. Postal Service.

Save Our Jobs & Services!

To endorse and join this campaign, email: Occupy4JobsBoston@gmail.com